*Detailed stands plans (with dimensions) for everything exceeding a simple pull up banner.

Why do I need to complete and send over a Risk Assessment?

This is an important step in protecting your workers and your business, as well as complying with the law, therefore we recommend that all exhibitors complete risk assessments. It is simply a careful examination of what, in your work, could cause harm to people, so that you can ascertain whether you have taken enough precautions or should do more to prevent harm.

The law does not expect you to eliminate all risk, but you are required to protect people as far as reasonably practicable. Please follow our Risk Assessment Guide here.

For custom-built stands, it is mandatory to complete a risk assessment. This must cover build up and break down.

When would I need to complete and send over a Method Statement?

You need to complete a method statement if you plan to build within your stand space. This safe work method statement must describe the work that will be carried out and how this will be executed safely.

For all custom-built stands, it is mandatory to complete a method statement. This must cover build, conference-open and break down. Please follow our Method Statement Guide here.

Do I need insurance?

All exhibitors should take out and maintain, at all times, public liability insurance against personal injury, death and damage to or loss of property for a limit of indemnity not less than £1,000,000 sterling (or its equivalent), the organiser shall be entitled to inspect the exhibitor's public liability policy. Be sure your materials are insured during transit to and from the premises, as well as during set-up, open and breakdown. It is suggested that exhibitors arrange all-risk coverage.

Can you recommend a company that provides stand solutions?

We recommend Expositionists, who can provide an array of customised reusable stand solutions, to give your stand a boost.
